Morse's Invigorating Elixir will Replace weakness with strength, i especity with efficiency, irrequisitive with uniform and natural totivity; and this not only without hazard of reaction, but with a happy effect on the general organization. Hear is mind that all maisdies, wherever they begin finish with the nervous system, and what the paraly-axion of the nerves of motion and sensation is physical death. Bear in mind, also, that for every kind of nervous disease the clixir and cordial is the only reliable preparation known. Its free is never expended, as is the case with pium, sicoholio praparations, and all other excitants. The effect of these is brief, and it may well be said of him who takes them. 'the last state of that man is worse than the first.' But the clixir is an exhibitant without a single drawback—rafe in its operation, perpetual is the happy influence upon the nerves, the mind, and the entire organization. For rale by CHAS. H.
